SUMMARY

Intelligence Analyst with six years of experience producing clear assessments for defense and national security operations. Researches, evaluates, and integrates SIGINT, GEOINT, OSINT, MASINT, open source, and classified information into useful analytical products. Applies ICD 203 compliant tradecraft, validates source reliability, develops written reporting, and briefs defense stakeholders with context and actionable judgments. Manages urgent requests, shifting priorities, documentation standards, and operational support without losing analytical discipline. Experience includes regional and functional research, collection integration, structured problem solving, peer support, and senior stakeholder presentations. Brings a steady, thoughtful approach to sensitive missions, helping decision makers act with better information and clearer risk awareness.

EXPERIENCE

All Source Intelligence Analyst

Frontier Intelligence Group 📅 February 2022 - Present 📍 Arlington, VA

Leads all source analysis supporting defense stakeholders, operational decisions, written assessments, briefings, collection research, and peer development. Balances urgent requests with source validation, documentation quality, and ICD 203 compliant analytical judgments.

- Integrated SIGINT, GEOINT, OSINT, and MASINT reporting into defensible mission assessments.
- Validated source reliability and evidence chains, giving stakeholders greater confidence in judgments.
- Structured ICD 203 analysis for regional topics, clarifying assumptions and information gaps.
- Prepared written products and briefings that gave defense leaders useful operational context.
- Managed urgent analytical requests during shifting priorities, preserving quality and documentation standards.
- Shared practical tradecraft with peers, helping newer analysts approach difficult research with confidence.

Intelligence Analyst

Defense Insight Partners 📅 June 2020 - January 2022 📍 Reston, VA

Supported operational teams through research summaries, analytical reporting, source review, briefing preparation, and organized records. Worked across open and classified information while adapting analysis to changing mission priorities and stakeholder needs.

- Produced research summaries from open and classified sources for operational planning teams.
- Reviewed source content under established procedures, separating verified reporting from unresolved claims.
- Built briefing materials that helped senior stakeholders follow evidence and analytical conclusions.
- Maintained organized analytical records, making source validation easier during follow up reviews.
- Applied structured problem solving to difficult information challenges and changing mission demands.
- Supported operational teams with clear updates when priorities shifted during active reporting cycles.

PROJECTS

Multi Source Assessment Program 📅 2024

Created a structured assessment workflow that combined SIGINT, GEOINT, OSINT, and MASINT inputs. Focus remained on source validation, ICD 203 tradecraft, clear judgments, and useful briefing preparation for operational decisions.

Operational Intelligence Briefing Series 📅 2023

STRENGTHS

- ✓ Source Validation
During contested reporting, checked evidence chains carefully. Stakeholders gained confidence in judgments and supporting facts.
- ✍ Analytical Writing
Turned dense research into readable assessments. One clear structure made senior briefings easier to follow.
- 🎯 Mission Focus
Urgent requests changed quickly, yet priorities stayed clear. Operational teams received useful answers when timing mattered.
- 🔗 Collection Integration
Connected SIGINT, GEOINT, OSINT, and MASINT findings. A wider view helped teams see gaps and patterns.
- 👥 Peer Support
Shared practical methods during difficult reviews. Colleagues often sought a second perspective before finalizing analysis.
