Hiring Manager
Soro Technologies
Houston, TX
107K–108K a year

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am thrilled to apply for the Data Analytics Intern role at Soro Technologies, a position that captures my interest given my foundational knowledge in data science and zeal for transforming intricate data into actionable insights, which fervently resonates with the innovative culture at your company.

From my experience doing market research to identify trends and opportunities, I learned the value of data in supporting investment strategies, not to mention my substantial efforts utilizing SQL and Excel to enhance report generation, making me excited to contribute positively to your organization's data initiatives.

While I initially faced challenges with complex datasets during my academic research, I adapted well, collaborating effectively with cross-functional teams to ensure that our project outcomes were both impactful and comprehensible, demonstrating my unwavering commitment to excellence.

Having recently participated in a capstone project about commercial real estate trends, I've gained practical insights directly applicable to this internship, further galvanizing my enthusiasm to delve deeper into data analysis at Soro Technologies, where I see a symbiotic opportunity to grow along with the team.

Looking forward to discussing this exciting opportunity.

Thanks,

Joon Miller
