Dear Hiring Manager,

I am thrilled to apply for the Geology Intern position at Heidelberg Materials US, Inc. This opportunity perfectly matches my growing skills and passion for geology, propelling me into hands-on experiences.

While collaborating with my university peers, I engaged in projects that emphasized not only drilling programs but also health and safety priorities. Proficiency with ArcGIS showcased my ability to create detailed technical documentation and maps that excelled in project presentations.

From my current role as a Geological Research Collaborator, I deepened my understanding of reserve calculations, and participated actively in fieldwork collecting crucial geological data. This backdrop of real-world experiences has prepared me to contribute meaningfully to your team.

Balancing academic studies with practical applications cultivated my critical thinking and analytical skills. These moments shaped my commitment to fully support every endeavor and project during my internship at Heidelberg.

I look forward to discussing how I can contribute to your esteemed team.

Thanks,

Christian Armst
