Dear Hiring Manager

I am excited to submit my application for the Medical Laboratory Scientist position at Endeavor Health, a role where my education and experiences intertwine seamlessly with an authentic eagerness to contribute to exceptional patient care.

Throughout my journey in the realm of biological sciences, I cultivated a profound appreciation for laboratory work, realizing that every test I analyzed directly impacts someone's life—a responsibility I do not take lightly but rather cherish deeply.

During my time as a Medical Laboratory Intern at a university research lab, I dived headfirst into evaluating intricate test results while adhering strictly to protocols, ensuring that quality remained at the forefront of every task.

From processing blood components to troubleshooting equipment, each challenge added layers to my skills, transforming uncertainties into confident actions, showcasing that adaptability is essential in this field.

I am particularly drawn to Endeavor Health's commitment to quality care, resonating with my own values as I have actively engaged in quality control during my academic research, always striving for excellence through collaborative teamwork.

Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Mariana Mcdan
