

Contact

Address

Denver, CO, 80202

Phone

(720) 555-1234

Email

andres.payne@example.com

LinkedIn

linkedin.com/in/andrespayne

Website

andrespayne.com

JULY 30, 2026

Hiring Manager
CoPatible
San Francisco, CA

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the ML / AI Engineer Intern position at CoPatible, where my background in machine learning aligns superbly with your innovative projects designed to enhance how humans interact with technology. My enthusiasm for technical problem-solving has led to significant achievements in collaborative projects over the past year.

I've developed a prototype AI agent that evaluates user behavior to provide personalized content recommendations, achieving a 15% improvement in accuracy. This experience has sharpened my abilities to design systems that truly understand human needs. I adore the idea of building AI that connects people in meaningful ways.

During a recent hackathon, my team created a voice AI system aimed at helping users forge connections based on shared interests, and we received accolades for our innovative approach and teamwork. I enjoy dissecting complex problems, like turning unstructured input into structured signals, which I view as vital for user satisfaction.

Sometimes, the pace and ambiguity in a fast-moving tech environment shake my confidence, yet I always find a way to adapt and grow. I believe clear communication and collaboration are key to success in any team setting, especially in a startup culture like yours.

I look forward to potentially contributing my creativity and analytical skills to your team. The chance to work directly with the founder on groundbreaking projects excites me, as it promises not only growth but a real impact on user experiences through AI-led innovations.

Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Andres Payne

Andres Payne